The first policy issued

New York Life was the first company to provide life insurance protection in Minnesota. On October 1, 1849, Henry Moss, a prominent lawyer of Stillwater, purchased a New York Life policy. That was the same year Minnesota became a Territory. Mr. Moss had been one of the 61 Minnesotans to petition Congress for such action. Shortly after purchasing the New York Life policy, Mr. Moss became the company's first agent in Minnesota.

The first office

New York Life established a general agency in Minnesota in 1863.
